

A BANK TRUST IN RICHMOND

The House Committee Endorses Jim Crow Steamboat Bill.

STATE'S DISCOVERY

B Virginia-Maryland Boundary Bill Passed by the Employers' Liability Bill Made Special Order for Monday—Increased Compensation for Princess Anne Supervisors—A New Ferry Company.

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)

Richmond, Jan. 27.—The Flood joint resolution providing for a constitutional convention has been made a special order of next Friday at 12:45 o'clock.

This measure, having been endorsed by a majority of the members of the Democratic Caucus, will, of course, now receive the united support of all the Democratic members of the Legislature, and the only difference of opinion will be as to the best steps to be taken regarding the holding of the convention. Quite a considerable minority of the Legislature is not in favor of the convention, but will now yield gracefully.

A "BANK TRUST."

It developed this morning before the Senate Committee on Finance that there is a "Bank Trust" in this city. The committee had under consideration the bill offered by Mr. S. S. P. Patterson to designate the American National Bank as one of the State depositories.

This bank has only recently been established, and the other national banks in this city, through their officers, made a vigorous, though not open, effort to force the new bank out.

"JIM CROW" BOAT BILL.

The House Committee on Roads this morning ordered a favorable report upon the bill offered by Hon. S. Wilkins Matthews, of Accomac, providing for separate accommodations for white and colored passengers on steamboats in Virginia.

BOUNDARY LINE DISPUTE.

In the Senate to-day Mr. Walker presented the following resolution, which was referred:

"Whereas, Under the award made by J. S. Black, of Pennsylvania, and Charles E. Smith, of Georgia, in the arbitration between the State of Maryland and the State of Virginia to settle and determine the true line of boundary between the said States, a doubt exists as to the true line along the Potomac river from the Great Falls above Washington, D. C., to the mouth of said river, and because of this uncertainty and doubt the question of territorial jurisdiction remains unsettled, much to the inconvenience of the citizens of each State; and, whereas, it is important that doubt in the said award should be removed and the true line of boundary should be established and definitely settled; therefore, be it

Resolved, That two members of the Senate shall be appointed by the president of that body, and that the Speaker of the House of Delegates shall appoint three members of that body, who, together, shall constitute a joint committee, whose duty it shall be to invite the Legislature of Maryland to appoint a similar committee on its part to meet and confer with the Virginia committee for the purpose of establishing and definitely settling the true boundary line between the said States by naming the headlands of the Virginia shore, which shall be the points from which the true line of boundary shall be drawn.

The said Virginia committee is hereby fully empowered to confer and treat with the Maryland committee on the subject of the boundary line aforesaid, and to report the result of such conference to the General Assembly of Virginia of Virginia for approval and ratification."

The said committee is also authorized and empowered to sit during the recess of the General Assembly if they shall deem it necessary or expedient to do so.

To amend section 2229 of the Code, as to marriage licenses.

NEW FERRY COMPANY.

Senator Maynard presented a bill to incorporate the Tidewater Transportation Company with the following corporations: J. W. G. Blackstone, R. G. Blackford, Wm. P. Andrews, Floyd Hughes, B. W. Leigh, John B. Moore, and J. T. Lawrence. The company is authorized in the act to operate ferries between Norfolk and Newport News, and Hampton, Old Point and Wicomico Spit. The bill prohibits the operation of a ferry between Norfolk and Portsmouth.

LAND-GRABBERS' ACT.

In the House the bill, of which Col. George Wayne Anderson, of Richmond, is the patron, amending the Land-Grabbers' Act, was taken up out of its own order and made a special and continuing order for Wednesday next at 1 o'clock.

LIABILITY OF EMPLOYEES.

When Capt. Parks's liability bill, which was taken up at 1 o'clock as the special order, was passed by the House, Mr. Pletcher, who is opposed to the measure, began to filibuster, and it became evident that nothing could be done. The bill was passed by and made a special and continuing order for Monday next at 1 o'clock.

PRINCESS ANNE SUPERVISORS.

A bill was offered by Mr. Ewell to increase the compensation of the Board of Supervisors of Princess Anne county.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.

NOTES FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 27.—Saturday, January 27th, was the day appointed for the representatives of the different State colleges to meet here, with a view toward organizing an intercollegiate athletic association. The General Athletic Association of the University of Virginia has issued a circular letter to the leading colleges of the State, asking for representatives. It is said in the letter that there is more or less discord in the athletic relations of several of our State institutions, and it is hoped that an agreement as to rules and regulations will be made satisfactory to all. The object of this meeting to foster an athletic spirit throughout Virginia, and it is quite probable a State schedule will be made. Richmond College, Washington and Lee University, Virginia Military Institute, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Hampden-Sydney College, Roanoke College, Emory and Henry College and others have agreed to send representatives.

While at Charlottesville the visitors will be entertained at the university. The Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Gymnasts of America was permanently organized. New York January 23d, and the following universities were represented: Yale, Princeton, University of Virginia, Columbia, Harvard and the University of Pennsylvania. The first meeting will be held March 23d in the Columbia College gymnasium.

Owing to the fine weather we have had this last week, Captain Nolle had a large number of candidates for the ball team. They had a good chance to limber up a little and to begin training. If the weather continues warm practice will be continued.

In the meeting here of the State colleges to form an intercollegiate athletic association Mr. B. C. Nolle, president of the General Athletic Association, will represent Virginia.

Last Saturday night Prof. William M. Thornton addressed the Jefferson Literary Society. His subject was "The Relation of the Literary Society to the Work of the University." He recalled the past grand record of the "Jeff," and the illustrious names that have adorned its roll, beginning with Edgar Allan Poe, Leigh, Broadus, Stuart, Tucker and many others. The address was an eloquent one, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the Professor.

On Saturday, February 3d, Judge R. T. W. Duke, of Charlottesville, and an alumnus of this university, will deliver a lecture before the society. While at college Judge Duke was a member of the "Wash" Society, but, like all "Wash" members, he has a great regard for the "Jeff."

A place in the library for the Hertz library has just been completed, and is now in position in the upper gallery. This valuable collection was purchased and presented by the alumni of New York, and will, in the future, be known as the "Gessner Harrison Memorial Library."

The library of Prof. J. S. Bruner, late head of the Romance Department at the University of Chicago, was lately purchased.

The Editorial Board of the Alumni Bulletin has been chosen for next year, and consists of Professors Graves, Page and J. S. Davis, together with the chairman of the faculty, Dr. P. B. Bomberger.

Prof. Ormand Stone made a visit recently to New York to attend the council of the American Astronomical Association.

Rev. Dr. A. Coke Smith, of Norfolk, who concluded his biblical work here by two eloquent sermons, delivered in the University chapel, left a deep impression among the students.

Thursday night the John B. Winn Law Debating Society resumed its meetings. The question argued was whether a common-law marriage in Virginia was valid or not. The question hinged on the point whether the Virginia statute on this subject is merely directory or mandatory. After arguments on both sides were heard, the Supreme Court Judges of the society decided that a common law marriage was valid in Virginia, two of the four judges dissenting. The Court of Appeals, consisting of all the members of the society, affirmed the decision.

Prepared to Meet His Enemies—School Trustees Chosen—Peanut Market—In the Churches—Hundred Accident—Personal Mention.

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)

Suffolk, Va., Jan. 27.—John W. Godwin, whose persecutions and wounds near Ashokie, N. C., forced him to seek safety in flight, spent last night in Suffolk, and soon this morning he was searching for arms. He added to his weapons a repeating rifle and plenty of ammunition, and left town prepared to cope with his enemies should they decide to follow.

Mr. Godwin started to Norfolk on business. He says he will return in a few days and renew his search for a suitable home.

In view of the feeling incurred against him at Ashokie and the leniency shown his alleged besiegers, it is thought that Godwin may have gained the people's displeasure in other ways than having been suspected of lodging information with revenue officers.

Mrs. Godwin is said to be an excellent woman. She is still in Norfolk county, but is not stopping at home, but at a friend's house.

CAPE CHARLES.

CLUB MEETING—PICKLE FACTORY—BRIEF MENTION.

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)

Cape Charles, Va., Jan. 27.—The Culture Club met last night in the parlors of the Misses Orton, Cape Charles Hotel. Among those present were W. E. Dickinson, president; Miss Ruth Wilson, secretary; and Miss Alysce Orton, treasurer; Miss Rhoda and Grace McKenney, Ethel Nottingham, Mabel Smith, Edna Sterling, Rose Tunnel and Nellie Williams; and Messrs. Walter Williams, Page Nottingham, Thomas Jones, James and Upshur Wilson, Sharpley, Byrd, Tyler and Shields. The business routine embraced a consideration of suitable badges for the club, and resulted in the appointment of a committee to examine and submit designs for gold devices suitable and appropriate.

The meeting then took the social side and was replete with music, parlor games, etc., winding up with an elaborate spread of refreshments.

PICKLE FACTORY.

A movement is on foot looking to the establishment of a pickle factory at or near Salisbury, and the scheme is encouraged by leading business men. This ought to be a pointer for Cape Charles farmers. Plant and raise your sweet and "round" potatoes, but don't stop there, but diversify your industries by canning tomatoes, corn, peas, beans, strawberries, and so on ad infinitum. Your opportunities are great, and don't stand in your own light by keeping in old worn-out rules. Study the situation and go to the front!

Mr. Joseph B. Savage, a well-known and prominent citizen of Northampton county, and engaged in the mercantile business at Franktown, was paralyzed at a early hour this morning, and his condition is considered serious.

Among the bills introduced in the Legislature by Mr. John E. Nottingham are two referring to bridges—one authorizing a bridge across Little Hog Island creek, and the other across Swan's Gut, both in Northampton county. George Paramore's bill for a bridge across King creek is already authorized.

Every cell in Northampton's county jail at Eastville is reported full, and no more boarders are wanted! But to explain: the jail is a small one, and, better still, the alleged offences against the peace and dignity of the State are of minor grade. This is the first time in ten years that this institution has had an occupant for every berth.

The Horse-Shoe Card Club had an unique, though highly pleasant, entertainment Wednesday night at Eastville, Miss Grace Wilkins giving the entertainment.

Abner McKinley, a brother of the President, crossed the bay to Norfolk Thursday afternoon on the steamer Old Point. The resemblance of the brothers is striking; they might be taken for twins. Abner was known and recognized by several of our citizens.

The cold snap or wye has been severely felt on the Shore the past four days, and as a result business operations, especially among the watermen, have been temporarily checked.

At the public sale Saturday of the late Capt. J. W. Richardson's "Wildcat" neck, Mr. T. F. Bell purchased the oyster grounds in Mattaponi creek.

The Baptists of Eastville are preparing for a grand literary entertainment in the near future. Miss Gay Ragland ("Christine Anderson"), accompanied by Miss Lealy, a noted elocutionist in French, German, Irish and Italian, will appear.

The parsonage of the Eastville Baptist Church has undergone needed repairs.

Edward F. Nottingham, of Corapeake, N. C., is spending a few days with his family in Eastville.

The Eastville Herald is using a forty-ton sledge hammer in its endeavor to drive home the necessity of Northampton county farmers embarking in truck-farming and then marketing their crops in the shape of canned products. Hammer on, brother, you'll succeed by-and-by!

The January term of the County Court of Accomac will begin its session Monday, 29th—last Monday in the month.

Judge Durant, of Indiana Territory, is on the Shore and stopping with friends in Eastville.

The party consisted of Senators Morris, Tyler, Tate, Watkins, Blakey and Massie, and the following members of the House of Delegates: Fitzpatrick, Whitehead, McConnell, Dodson, Musgrave, Robinson, Clark, Leech and Newhouse, and Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate Willis, and Page George Greer. The party left to-night on their return to Richmond.

WILLIAMSBURG.

A Historic Place the Government Is Asked to Purchase.

The Temple Farm and the "Moore House"—Here Was Consummated One of the Most Decisive Surrenders in the World's History.

The Committee on Military Affairs of Congress has now under consideration a bill, introduced by Hon. William A. Young, of Norfolk, proposing the purchase of Temple Farm, to be used as an historic memorial park.

The farm lies in a peninsula formed by the York river and is one mile east of old Yorktown. It contains about 500 acres, nearly 400 acres under cultivation, fenced in, convenient fields, the remainder being woodland, along Waverly creek.

It is located forty to seventy feet above tidewater and has to the east an unobstructed view of Chesapeake bay.

On the north it views York river, the scene of a vast shipping trade and manoeuvres of the United States navy, while on the west lie the National Cemetery and the monument erected by the Federal Government to commemorate the surrender of Lord Cornwallis. Yorktown lies in the near background.

THE OLD "MOORE HOUSE."

The buildings include barns, sheds, stables, a large dwelling, a smaller double house, and most interesting of all, the "Moore House," taking its name from the widow Moore, who occupied it when, in one of its rooms, were drawn up the articles of the famous capitulation of Lord Cornwallis to Washington. This historic house is in good state of preservation and is used as a residence by the present owner of the farm.

For this house, which sheltered Washington, Lafayette and Rochambeau, was consummated one of the most decisive surrenders in the world's history, and it was by his success at this time that Washington earned the appellation of "Father of His Country." It was historic before the surrender, being the home of Governor Spotswood early in the eighteenth century. The first settlement on York river, in 1639, was made near the Temple Farm.

Over the green fields of this farm have swept the armies of the Revolution, the war of 1812, and the great civil war. Upon it are the two miles of earthwork thrown up in 1862, the "McClellan road" under the banks of the creek, and the obstructions of siege guns planted on other parts of the farm. Here is the oldest marked grave in the United States: here are the remains of the first house of worship, the "Temple," and beneath them lie the relics of an older strife, the tomb of Major William Gooch, who died in October, 1655. Below the "Temple" sleeps Wormly creek, and not a hundred yards above stands the successor to the mill, where the first shot was fired by Washington in the siege of Yorktown. A mile away still stands the first custom-house in America, at Yorktown, through which, two hundred years ago, goods were imported from New York and Philadelphia.

WANT IT PURCHASED.

Wishing to preserve this historic ground, the Legislatures of New Jersey, Virginia, Maryland, Ohio and South Carolina have adopted resolutions in favor of the purchase and preservation of the site of the surrender, and Representative at Washington to urge upon Congress the purchase and preservation of this historic ground as a memorial park in connection with the monument and cemetery above mentioned. Petitions to the same effect have been made by Daughters of Seventeen Hundred and Seventy-six; by the time-honored Carpenters' Association of Philadelphia, in whose hall the first Congress was held, by various veteran organizations, and by the descendants of Lafayette and Rochambeau, who were the nation's guests at the "Moore House" during the centennial celebration on Temple Farm in October, 1881.

Visitors to the farm unanimously favor such purchase and preservation, and several members of Congress are cordially supporting this patriotic movement.

The Daughters of the American Revolution are also taking an active interest in the proceedings of Congress in this matter.

PETERSBURG.

HOUSE BURNED—VISITING LEGISLATORS—PERSONAL.

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)

Petersburg, Va., Jan. 27.—A dwelling house in Amelia county, owned by W. A. Reams, and occupied by Thomas Wynne, was destroyed by fire last Thursday evening. Mr. Wynne lost all of his furniture and household effects, and also one hundred dollars in currency. How the fire originated is not known. The house was valued at $1,200, on which there was no insurance.

It is estimated that about one million pounds of loose tobacco were sold in Petersburg during the past week.

VISITING LEGISLATORS.

The Senate and House Committee on Asylums and Colleges arrived here this morning from Richmond. They visited and inspected the building and grounds of the Virginia Normal and Collegiate Institute, and also the buildings and grounds of the Central State Hospital, where they were found in excellent condition.

STRANGE MENTAL POWERS

How People are Influenced.

Startling Words from the Committee Appointed to Investigate Hypnotism for the Benefit of Journal Readers.

(From New York Journal.)

G. S. LINCOLN, M. D.

JUDGE HENRY SCHAFER,
Flemington, N. J.

F. H. STOUFER, Secretary and
Treasurer of Railway Conductors,
Pueblo, Col.

REV. PAUL WELLER,
Voak, N. Y.

Hypnotism is no longer a myth, a fanciful creation of the mind, but a reality, a most potent power, capable of producing infinite good. For the purpose of ascertaining the exact value of this much-talked-of power a committee, composed of a physician, a well-known jurist, a prominent minister and leading railroad man, was appointed to investigate Hypnotism.
